The melancholy days have come. The saddest of the year: When it is too hot for whisky, And too cold for beer.

REPUBLICAN SPEAKING

Will Be at Opera House Saturday Afternoon—A Big Crowd Will Be There

The Republican speaking in this city Saturday afternoon will be in the Opera House.

The principal speakers will be former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks, who has never been heard by a Maysville audience and who is considered one of the best platform orators in this country, and Hon. Edwin P. Morrow, the next Governor of Kentucky.

These two powerful speakers will certainly entertain you, so be sure and be one of the crowd that will be there, as there will be a big delegation of country people to greet them.

GREAT MEETING

Republicans Held Rousing Meeting At Dover Monday Night—Several Brilliant Speeches Made By Local Men.

The big Republican meeting at Dover Monday night was a success in every respect. The spacious Knights of Pythias hall was crowded to the doors with people who gave entire attention to the speakers who expounded on the good times and prosperity that goes hand in hand with Republican administration.

Hon. W. D. Cochran, of this city, delivered a stirring speech which was received with tremendous applause by the large audience. Judging from the interest taken in the meeting by the citizens of the vicinity of Dover, the C. O. P. will receive a good many votes in the coming election from the western end of the county.

WOMAN FALLS FROM MOVING CAR.

Monday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock, a woman fell from a moving street car in front of the baseball park. The car was traveling at a good rate of speed when the woman endeavored to alight from it. The speed of the car threw her violently against the ground, rendering her unconscious for several minutes. Dr. A. O. Taylor was summoned and rendered medical aid to the stricken woman.

A GREAT REDUCTION

In going over our stock we find that we are OVERLOADED, and have decided to REDUCE STOCK, and it goes at cost.

This space will not permit us to list it all. One great bargain is 100,000 feet of an EXCELLENT GRADE OF OAK SIDING. This goes at $2 PER HUNDRED. All other yard stock greatly reduced.

Don't miss this opportunity to get what you want in lumber and building material at the lowest prices ever known in Maysville. Terms at this reduced price are CASH.

How To Avoid The Motor Car That Bags At the Knees

The automobile is curiously like the human body—an assembling of independent parts.

The man-machine is made up of muscle and bone, nerve and blood, water and fat, waste matter and brains.

As far as locomotion is concerned, neither machine is any stronger than its weakest 'link.'

Mark the badly co-ordinated man. He looks O. K., but when there are stairs to climb or pace to be forced, he puffs and pants, and one concludes that his ruddy color came from a recent facial massage; that his bellows need mending, that his muscles aren't; that his "strength" is mere scenery and that his sound appearance is mostly tailor made.

Haven't you seen automobiles just like that, look "pretty" but won't take you from Here to There and Back?

The "Wonder Car" that the Square Deal Man sells won't 'bag at the knees,' and he can prove by the testimony of delighted owners that it will take you There and Back, not once, but many times, and that it is the lowest "After Cost" car on the market today. If you are a prospective car owner, 'phone us and we will be glad to take you for a trial spin in the Maxwell "25."

WHO GOT THE CHICKS?

Is the Big Question That One of Maysville's Finest Is Trying To Solve.

Sunday one of the heavy policemen of the Maysville force hid himself to the grounds where the Democratic burgoofest was held on Saturday, he being a day late on account of having to stay in town Saturday to keep the passers-through on the straight road.

While strolling over the acreage by his lonesome he came across six fine chickens cooked and ready for disposing of.

Looking around to be sure he was alone, he began his feast, devouring two or three before his appetite called for a halt.

Then he made a speech. Says he: "I'll just tuck these fowls away in this fence corner and come back with a day and haul them home."

He tucked them away in the fence corner all right, but when he went back with the day to get them somebody had been there before his second arrival and took charge of the toothsome birds.

Now the policeman, instead of looking for pickpockets, is busy trying to find out who got his chickens.

K. OF P. GRAND LODGE

Began a Three-Days Session At Lexington Today.

The forty-seventh annual meeting of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias will be held in Lexington Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Three hundred representatives will be in attendance.

Tuesday forenoon will be devoted to greetings and conference of the Grand Lodge Rank on a class of one hundred representatives and Past Chancellors who have not had the work. The address of welcome will be delivered by Mayor J. Ernest Cassidy.

Sherman Arn, of this city, Grand Chancellor, will make the response. The first afternoon will be occupied with a visit to the Pythian Home on the Harrodsburg road. A taxi service will be established for the occasion. A program of music and recitations will be given by the children of the Home, and several dignitaries of the order will deliver talks.

Wednesday and Thursday will be occupied with executive sessions. The business to be transacted relates to the reports and recommendations of officers.

Among interesting questions to come up is the proposition now before the Supreme Lodge to increase the minimum initiation fees from $10 to $20. The majority vote of the Grand Lodges will determine action by the supreme body.

Of particular interest to every Pythian are matters which affect the Widows' and Orphans' Home, and reports of officers and committees will receive liberal attention. Through the efforts of John W. Carter, Grand Keeper of Records and Seal, the mortgage debt on the institution has been substantially reduced during the last year and a new campaign will look to the clearance of the remainder.

High-Ranking Pythians.

The following dignitaries of the order will take part in the meeting: Sherman Arn, Maysville, Grand Chancellor; R. A. Young, Winchester, Grand Vice Chancellor; L. H. Davis, Hopkinsville, Grand Prelate; J. W. Carter, Lexington, Grand Keeper of Records and Seal; B. P. Eubank, Bowling Green, Grand Master of Exchequer; Aubrey Barbour, Newport, Grand Master at Arms; John J. Howe, Carrollton, Grand Inner Guard; J. Tyler Davis, Louisville, Grand Outer Guard.

ATHENAEUMS TAKE THIRD GAME OF SERIES.

Monday afternoon at League Park, the Athenaeum soccer football team of the Maysville High School, defeated the Adelphi team in the third game of the championship series of the school, by the score of two to one. The playing of both teams was of the best brand of football. The Athenaeums played a star game on offensive and defensive, Dickson and Downing featuring by their long punts and great defensive work. Burrows was the whole show for the Adelphics and with more support might have tied the score. By winning the game Monday afternoon the Athenaeums practically won the pennant and the championship, as they have now a two-game lead over the Adelphics, who have not won a game, and there are two more games to be played. The final game of the series will be played in a few days, after which the athletes of the High School will turn their attention to basketball. The prospect for a great team in that sport is encouraging and the basketball fans of the city will see some great games this winter.

SECOND WARD BARBECUE.

One of the Councilmen from the Second Ward had a barbecue all of his own Monday evening on Wall street. Big cats were on deck as were big speakers. John Sapp, the local contractor, who looks and acts like Senator Ollie James, made a speech on behalf of the barbecuing candidate. Several others also made speeches. The affair is the second of its kind to be given by Councilmen and those running for Councilmanic honors in the coming election.

SPECIAL REGISTRATION.

WHEN GOVERNORS DISAGREE.

Governor McCreary, in his speech at Nicholasville Monday, made from his viewpoint a splendid defense of the Democratic administration of State affairs.

He was especially eloquent in his discussion of what had been accomplished by the Kentucky Legislature during the sessions when it was controlled by his party, and he pointed with pride to the great economy which, in his judgment, had been exercised by the Legislature and by the State officials in handling the business of the Commonwealth.

The Governor punctuated his speech with an amazing mass of figures which, to the unthinking mind, might be regarded as conclusive evidence of the soundness of every argument made by the Governor.

But figures are pliable things and may be used effectively to cover up ugly places in State finances. Nobody has ever accused the Kentucky Legislature of being either business-like or economical.

Lieutenant Governor McDermott, who presided over the last session of the Kentucky Senate, ought to be good authority on this subject. In a speech which he made at Paris last June, discussing State affairs, Lieutenant Governor McDermott said:

"We have no budget system. Members of the Legislature bring in bills running up into the millions for all kinds of causes, without any thought as to where the money is to come from."

Governor McDermott likewise did not seem to be deeply convinced of any general purpose to be useful to the business interests of the Commonwealth, because during the same speech just quoted he said:

"It was passed in the last session which allocated a panic when the insurance companies withdrew from the State rather than obey result was that the State officers, who sworn and made solemn oath to uphold the law, a gentleman's agreement with the companies to ignore the law until the session of the Legislature."

Records of the Kentucky Legislature show in 1896, when the Republicans were in control the House of Representatives the expenses for the session amounted to $70,000. In the year 1914, under Democratic control, the total expenses of the session were $144,549, or more than double the cost under the Republican management.

It is generally accounted for by the horde of expenses which were put on the payrolls of the Senate in order to make places for the friends of the politicians in control. There was practically no money paid out during the session of the Legislature. However, there were taken on in the House of Representatives the number allowed in 1912, twenty-three, and in 1914, fourteen. The cost to the State in 1914, fourteen. The cost to the State in 1914 was $144,549.

and his associates on the Republican side are alleging that the present administration has not been business-like, economical and has been influenced solely by desire and purpose to serve the people of the Commonwealth, and of this the voters of Kentucky, with the facts before them, and in the light of their own intelligence, must be the judges.

The Republicans assert that the main purpose and ambition of the majority of the present State officials has been to create positions for their own followers and to build up political organizations in order that they might be "promoted" or "rotated" from one office to another, through the Governor's chair and upward to the United States Senate.

If this is not true the people know it. It remains to be seen whether or not they will place their stamp of approval upon this state of affairs on November 2.—Lexington Leader.

1907 AND 1915.

In 1907 the Auditor of State was the Democratic candidate for Governor. The ticket was largely made up of rotationers in office. There was no party platform. Augustus E. Willson was elected Governor by a majority of 17,000.

This year the Auditor of State is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor. The State Treasurer is a candidate for Auditor. The Superintendent of Public Instruction is a candidate for Secretary of State. The Clerk of the Court of Appeals is a candidate for Auditor. The Commissioner of Agriculture is a candidate for Governor. The party has no platform and, if the plans of the leaders do not miscarry, will have no platform until after the primaries are held and the candidates are named, which is equivalent to no platform at all, conceding to the people a measure of intelligence.

In 1907 there was no division in the Republican party. There is no division in the Republican party this year.

It was the independent vote that elected Willson eight years ago. The number of Kentuckians who do their own thinking and vote as they think has not decreased since 1907.

History says there is a way of repeating itself. There may be no repetition of 1907 in 1915, but the signs point that way. If the Democratic leaders have not observed that fact, it might pay them to cultivate observation.—Louisville Times.

MASSACHUSETTS LEADS.

The Republicans of Massachusetts have led off in demonstrating how the party is to be restored to power. The platform recently adopted in the Bay State is convincing proof of the essential unity of political thought among the two bodies who divided the vote in opposition to Wilson in 1912, and the strongest and wisest leaders of Massachusetts Progressivism have publicly declared their cordial adherence to the Republican party once more.

The spirit of conciliation which produced this result was widespread among both Republicans and Progressives. Mr. McCall, the candidate for Governor, and Senators Lodge and Weeks were cordial in their approval of the progressive planks submitted by Mr. Bird and Mr. Walker; and the State convention, without dissent, adopted the result. In good faith the renegade Republicans of Massachusetts will now proceed to elect a Republican Governor and to carry into effect the pledges upon which that election will be secured.

So it will prove to be, we predict, in the nation. The absence of highly controverted personal issues will enable the anti-Democratic majority in the country to unite upon principles. Their candidate will be a man whose character will coincide with the platform declarations. The country is to be redeemed next year; and Massachusetts this year leads the way.

We are always delighted to meet strangers. They frequently laugh at our jokes.

"Cannon food" is a new one, though slightly overworked across the pond.

Every Republican should do his duty this year and vote the ticket straight.

Kick the cat if you must, but save your cuss words for a nobler cause.

You Don't Want to Kill This Town

If you want to kill the prosperity of this town, if you want to make it financially hard up, IF YOU WANT TO BUST IT, just keep right on sending your money to outside firms and especially to the mail order man.

If you want to make Christmas a mockery in this town, if you want to contribute your share toward pauperizing the business interests of this community, just keep right on sending your money to other places and you will succeed.

If you want to decrease the value of your town property or of your farm, if you want to make local conditions such that no one would risk buying your property, just keep right on patronizing mail order men and other foreign concerns and you will wipe out your own accumulations of years.

But if you don't want to do these things—if you are in reality what you profess to be, a good citizen—BUY IT AT HOME THIS CHRISTMAS, and KEEP PROSPERITY IN THIS TOWN.

Every day good citizens are telling us they are convinced that it is to their own interest to buy as much as possible this Christmas from our own merchants, because they realize that the profits from the sales must be kept at home. We think that a heart you, too, are a good citizen, if you will only stop to consider what a blow you are giving your home town when you send your money to outside sources.

Why don't you tell us that YOU are going to BUY IT AT HOME this Christmas if it is possible to get it here?

Of course, if you must have something that is not sold in this town then you are excusable if you buy it elsewhere. But you can buy most anything you want right here in this town from our own merchants, from people who are your sincere friends and whose heavy taxes on their business enterprises make your taxes that much lighter.

We appeal to every citizen in this community—WE APPEAL TO YOU—to help keep prosperity in OUR OWN TOWN by buying your Christmas goods from OUR OWN business men.

We are appealing to your better nature—to your loyalty—to your own interests—when we ask you to join us in KEEPING PROSPERITY AT HOME, where each and every one of us may enjoy its blessings.

We are firm in the conviction that you will do this, because we believe you ARE a good citizen and are more than willing to prove yourself one of our BEST citizens by doing that which you KNOW to be to the best interest of the whole community as well as to yourself, and especially when it will not cost you an extra cent.

THAT MAY BE TOO SLOW.

There is a rapidly growing number of people who are convinced that this country would be in a very bad economic condition by this time if the European war had not given us a tremendous export trade and sharply curtailed our imports. Many of our industries were in the position to be prostrated by an onset of goods produced by cheap labor in Europe and sent to this country.

The offset now proposed for the cessation of war orders, whenever it shall come, is in a tariff commission, but that may be too slow. There are discerning men who say that the only thing to do is to re-enact the Payne-Aldrich tariff law to save the situation at once, and then proceed with such a study as will result in the correction of the defects of that law.—Urban (O.) If you want to decrease the value of your town property or of your farm, if you want to make local conditions such that no one would risk buying your property, just keep right on patronizing mail order men and other foreign concerns and you will wipe out your own accumulations of years.

But if you don't want to do these things—if you are in reality what you profess to be, a good citizen—BUY IT AT HOME THIS CHRISTMAS, and KEEP PROSPERITY IN THIS TOWN.

Every day good citizens are telling us they are convinced that it is to their own interest to buy as much as possible this Christmas from our own merchants, because they realize that the profits from the sales must be kept at home. We think that a heart you, too, are a good citizen, if you will only stop to consider what a blow you are giving your home town when you send your money to outside sources.

Why don't you tell us that YOU are going to BUY IT AT HOME this Christmas if it is possible to get it here?

Of course, if you must have something that is not sold in this town then you are excusable if you buy it elsewhere. But you can buy most anything you want right here in this town from our own merchants, from people who are your sincere friends and whose heavy taxes on their business enterprises make your taxes that much lighter.

We appeal to every citizen in this community—WE APPEAL TO YOU—to help keep prosperity in OUR OWN TOWN by buying your Christmas goods from OUR OWN business men.

We are appealing to your better nature—to your loyalty—to your own interests—when we ask you to join us in KEEPING PROSPERITY AT HOME, where each and every one of us may enjoy its blessings.

We are firm in the conviction that you will do this, because we believe you ARE a good citizen and are more than willing to prove yourself one of our BEST citizens by doing that which you KNOW to be to the best interest of the whole community as well as to yourself, and especially when it will not cost you an extra cent.

USING CONVICTS ON HIGHWAYS

Many States Have Abolished Contract System of Working the Prisoners

WORK CONVICTS ON ROADS

Kentucky Could Possibly Save From Twenty to Thirty Per Cent of the Money Expended For Road Work on the Public Highways Says Commissioner Terrell.

Frankfort, Ky.—(Special)—R. C. Terrell, Commissioner of Roads, when asked for his views regarding the employment of convicts on the roads of the state, granted the following interview on this subject:

"In recent years the convict labor problem has been one that has been given a great deal of attention, and as a result, most of the States have abolished the contract system of working the prisoners and have established the more modern system of using the convicts on the public highways, and in the prisons for the purpose of preparing materials for the highways, and on other public works in the various States. Reports from various Highway Departments over the United States show conclusively that convict labor can be used to an advantage in road building and at a saving of both to the county and State in the cost of labor for this class of work.

"In the biennial report of Mr. T. F. Tynan, Warden of the State Penitentiary of Colorado for the year 1912, it is shown that there was built one hundred and fifty-seven miles of road through the mountain sections of that State, at a saving, according to his estimate, of $223,479.56; that the average cost per day per man for the laborers engaged in this class of work was 32c. He further states that the convicts were able to do the work of not only ordinary laborers, but some were found able to perform the services required of experienced men in drilling, blasting, laying masonry, blacksmithing, and other skilled labor. With such labor commanding a salary of from $2 to $5 per day, this without a doubt, shows that convict labor can be used to advantage on heavy construction work, and in places where more or less permanent camps can be maintained.

"Virginia also has succeeded in this undertaking, as is shown by the results. For the past nine years convicts have been used on the public highways of this State, and Mr. P. St. J. Wilson, former State Highway Commissioner, and now the Assistant Director in the United States Office of Public Roads at Washington, D. C., stated that more than 1,500 men were used on the public highways of Virginia in the year 1913; that from forty to seventy-five were grouped together in a single camp—separate camps being maintained in each county—and that the cost of clothing and feeding them, and general maintenance of the men was 52c per day for a period of three years; that the men were not specially selected, but that the road forces were made up of prisoners as they were presented at the prisons; that men who were physically weak, or even cripples, were often sent out as part of the road force. He further states that the contractor who contracted for the work had very frequently offered $1 per day for men furnished by the State.

Under the present system in Kentucky the State receives the magnificent sum of 70c per day per man employed under the contract, and the State is required to feed and clothe the prisoners and a great many of the prisoners are let at a lower figure than that stated above.

"Kentucky could possibly save from twenty to thirty per cent of the money expended for road work under the State aid plan, if the convicts could be used on the public highways, and in the preparation of the materials which go into the highways. It would be possible to establish semi-permanent camps in the various counties where limestone is available in large quantities and prepare this material for road building, ready to be delivered by rail or motor truck to roads under construction, and these camps could be maintained practically the entire season.

"In Edmonson County, Kentucky, there exists a unique deposit of road asphalt, which is a hard sandstone—the finest road making material known—containing from seven to nine per cent of bituminous material. This material has an overburden of from ten to twenty feet of soil, sand or rock, and lies in a horizontal strata of from six to twenty feet in thickness. Would it not be a fine thing to establish here a permanent convict camp, where they could be used in the stripping of this material, quarrying and pulverizing and loading it ready for shipment to the counties of the Commonwealth? The actual cost of production, or even a reasonable per cent of profit, could be charged by the State for the material, and at the same time very materially reduce the cost for use in road construction, and insuring to the counties their limestone, macadam, or other hard surfaced roads, a splendid, self-sufficing material, that is, of course, not only durable and at the

Priming a Dynamite Cartridge

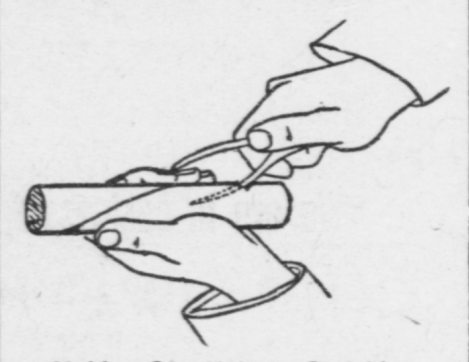

To properly prime a dynamite or farm powder cartridge four things are essential—the cap, the fuse, the cartridge and a crimping tool. The method in itself is very simple.

First crimp the priming cap about the fuse, using the crimping tool as shown in the illustration. Next punch a diagonal hole in the cartridge with the end of the crimping tool, making the hole deep enough to entirely bury the cap. Insert the cap into this hole and tie the fuse to the side of the cartridge securely with a stout piece of cord. If the job is done carefully and correctly the entire outfit will look like illustration No. 4, and the priming will be complete.

Ignorance, fear or carelessness are the causes of most accidents. There same time water-proof. Other camps might be established for the purpose of preparing limestone as stated above, and still others for the manufacture of brick to be used in the surfacing of roads, and a very efficient organization might be had for the placing of concrete roads as is now being used in Illinois, Georgia, and other States where that type of road is being constructed.

"The men become skilled in the performance of their duties, and this, while preparing them for a better existence when they have completed their term, also reduces the possibility of breaking up the organization by men quitting. Another important factor to be considered is the reduction of the cost, the reducing of the cost making it possible for all the counties in the state—not merely the rich counties—but practically all of them, to construct permanent roads. When one stops to consider that there are one hundred and twenty counties in Kentucky, most of them having a road fund ranging from $500 to $5,000, while less than ten have a road fund of more than $20,000, it is quite an easy matter to understand the advantage that convict labor would furnish these counties, where funds are limited, in the securing of permanent types of road. The convict labor would not come in competition with free labor, for without it the counties would be compelled to build a cheaper type of road, and in many instances would not be able to build at all, while, with the convict labor, better and more durable types of road could be constructed, as well as a more durable type of bridges. Even in the fabrication of steel material for the longer span bridges these could be obtained at a much cheaper figure, with the convict labor, than they could be done by contract.

"In summing up the advantages to the counties and to the state, one should not overlook the big advantage to the convict himself—the wholesome out-of-door labor bettering him, mentally, morally and physically—a much more healthy occupation than that which he would find inside the prison walls.

COFFEE CLAIMS IT'S VICTIMS BY HUNDREDS

Prominent Nerve Specialist Says Coffee Drinking Has Produced a New Disease—Chronic Caffeinism.

"There is a distinct type of cases," says Dr. Wm. M. Leszynsky, consulting neurologist to the Manhattan Eye and Ear Hospital, "frequent among the poorer class of people, but by no means confined to them, of functional nervous disorder (caused by coffee drinking), to which the elastic term 'neurasthenia' or 'chronic caffeinism' in its broadest significance may be aptly applied."

"In cases of neurasthenia, inquire into coffee drinking," adds Dr. Otto Juettner.

"I have seen hundreds of victims of this disease," continues Dr. Leszynsky, "among commercial travelers, brokers, merchants, actors, writers and men connected with the news departments of the daily papers.

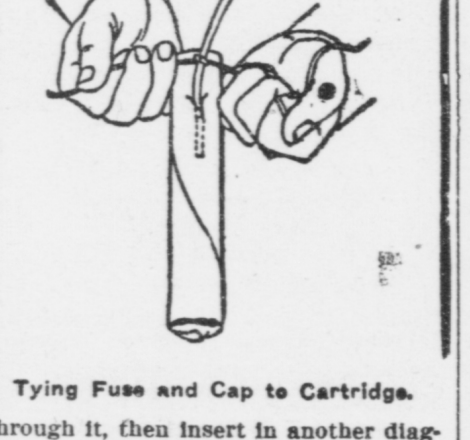

"They usually complain of the following symptoms, which are more or less pronounced: General headache and nervousness, apprehension in regard to some unknown impending trouble, mental depression and irritability, insomnia or restless sleep, bad dreams and sudden starting in sleep, awakening in profuse perspiration, general tremulousness and diminished muscular power, cardiac palpitations, loss of appetite and constipation.

NOTE.—It is a fact worthy of note that the American food-drink—Instant Postum—has come widely into popular use and favor with the recognition of the harmfulness of coffee. Postum has a flavor resembling Old Java, but is entirely free from caffeine or any other harmful ingredient.

MATERIALS FOR COATS

CLOTH, VELVET, FAILE, AND SILK MAY ALL BE EMPLOYED.

Special Arrangement Accentuates the Low Waist Line—No Sign That Furs Are to Be Less Worn—Every Kind in Order.

Tying Fuse and Cap to Cartridge.

Cloth and velvet are used for long street coats, whether they be the redingote that reaches to the top of the skirt hem, or the Robespierre coat that just clears the knees. Faile is also employed when the coat is for afternoon wear and trimmed with fur. Silk is featured for outdoor wear this season, although the average American may not consider it sufficiently warm; it will admirably suit those who live in the South and Southwest, that should be joyful news to them, for the fashion makers have nearly always left them out of the reckoning when laying down the laws.

The various styles in long coats usually account for a low waist line by the manner of cutting the cloth and arranging the seams, or by the placement of some kind of belt. Cords are used, run through slides of the material, sometimes huge belts of fur are put there. The latter is one of the many ways invented to smother a garment with plenty this season.

There has never been a time since man covered himself with the skins of wild beasts to hide his bare skin that so much fur is worn. Women never refuse this fashion. They leap at it, and overdo it as much as the most ardent furrier could wish. Good or bad, dyed or natural, colored or white furs are chosen over any other kind of material, and economy is practiced in every other department of dress and the household in order to buy peltry.

The low-crowned hat is no longer in first fashion. The milliners decided together that no money would be forthcoming if only variations on the prevailing shape were devised for the coming season. So they launched the high-crowned hat. The old ones won't do; of that there is no doubt. The brette of Henry IV, the Cos-ack's fur turban, the postilion of 1900, the Eton schoolboy's top hat of silk beaver, the high sailor of panne plush, the Puritan hat with its silver buckle—these are features of millinery.

GOOD IDEA FOR INITIALS

Those That Can Be Brought to Light by Means of Cutwork Have Many Advantages.

Should you be tired of embroidered initials worked in solid stitches follow the idea of one clever girl and on your towels, pillowcases and other pieces of linen stamp initials that can be brought to light by means of cutwork. The effect will be more than satisfactory.

Of course, a double line of stamping is necessary in order to do the cutwork. Outline each stroke forming the letter and then buttonhole over the outlining. At intervals between the double lines make bridges. This is done by taking a long stitch from one line across to the opposite one and then working back over the line with buttonhole stitches. The closer the bridges are laid together the firmer will be the initial.

After the material on which the initials have been embroidered has been washed, cut the material away from beneath the bridges, using a sharp scissors for the purpose, and using great care not to cut a bridge.

To Cover Buttons. Do you cover your own buttons? It means a saving and gives variety to a costume. It can be done by crochet stitches or by needlework as well as by bits of fancy silk, too insignificant for any other use. Objections have been heard on the score that the result was not as satisfactory as professional work, but the answer to that is the injunction to do all the work neatly. Slipshod methods are to be condemned everywhere, although, to be sure, time is wasted in the inside finish of frocks. Even expensive dress-makers have taken a hint from Paris and concentrated on externals.

A WOMAN DOCTOR

"Eugenics is a necessary factor in the future of the race. The average American girl is unfit for motherhood. This may be true, but if weak and ailing girls passing from girlhood to womanhood would only rely, as thousands do, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—that simple remedy made from roots and herbs—to restore the system to a normal healthy condition, it would cause many a young woman to suffer to disappear, so many of their lives.

Dr. James P. McNaughton, a missionary from Turkey, addressing the National Laymen's Missionary Convention at Detroit, said the presence of a vestige of the Armenian race, after what is said to have endured through centuries of oppression, is one of the miracles of history.

NEED TO ORGANIZE

Hard Work Ahead for Republican Party.

Election Next Year Evidently Is to Be a Keen Contest—Some Factors That Are in Favor of Democratic Success.

It seems now that the Republicans are not to have the walkover next year that was indicated six or eight months ago. Reports from all parts of the country tell the same story, that President Wilson is stronger today than at any period of his administration. If the Republicans are to win their way back to power the campaign of education must be broadened and prosecuted with vigor and the work of organization must be begun without loss of time.

A year in advance of the nomination, with great events moving swiftly, is too early for serious consideration of candidates, but none too soon to appeal for a renewal of allegiance to the economic principles which the Republican party represents. Not forgetting the sad results of the administration's lack of policy toward Mexico, it must be presumed that its chief weakness is the Underwood tariff law, which has made a vacuum in the Treasury which the income tax and the special war tax have been unable to fill.

Its greatest strength lies in the policy that has thus far preserved the nation's honor and yet kept it out of the European war. Signs of the moment are that the administration, in spite of itself, will be forced to act in Mexico and make amends for its past sins of omission. Should this come about, with no vital change in our European relations, the great issue of the battle of 1916 will be economic, with only popular approval of the President's policies to be depended upon to offset the blight of the tariff law upon the nation's prosperity. For the parties are likely to strike an even balance if response is necessary to demand for preparedness for national defense. In the event, however, that election day should find the country at war with Mexico, this would necessarily be another factor in favor of a victory for President Wilson.

What It Means to Farmers.

The realities of free trade are well illustrated by the present meat supply and prices. During the ten months preceding May 1 the imports of meat and dairy products into the United States were three times as great as in a like period two years ago. This means that the American farmer has been deprived of his home market to the extent of more than $25,000,000, and the consumer has paid not a cent less than he would have paid if the American farmer had been allowed to supply his home product. It means also that the clothing manufacturer, the furniture man and other business men have been deprived of the farm trade to practically the extent of this $25,000,000; for had the farmer received the money he would have spent it at home. It all means simply that Argentine farmers and manufacturers are using this $25,000,000 that otherwise we should have been enjoying in the United States. The farmer is surely not the man who is benefited by free trade.—Dover (Del.) Sentinel.

Important National Gathering.

That the Republican National Convention of 1916 will be the most interesting national gathering of the G. O. P. within a half century, was the belief expressed by James B. Reynolds, secretary of the Republican National Committee, during a conference with former Collector William F. Stone. Mr. Reynolds came to Baltimore and had luncheon with Mr. Stone, who is sergeant-at-arms of the Republican National Committee. His visit here followed a conference he held in New York recently with Chairman Hilles and other officials of the committee, at which preliminary plans were discussed for the G. O. P. gathering next year, which many persons believe will nominate the next president of the United States.—Baltimore American.

Tariff in Politics.

So long as public opinion is deeply and widely divided on the issue of protection, so long that issue must be in politics. Men who believe a low tariff is ruinous to the country are not going to elect Congressmen who will enact that sort of a tariff. Men who believe the tariff is a tax on consumption several times as large as the revenue secured by the government, and ought in the interest of the whole country to be as low as revenue considerations permit, cannot be expected to vote for such candidates for Congress as the American Economist would approve.

And so the tariff is in politics, and it is likely to remain in politics.—Ex change.

Dummy-critic Scribbles.

A large number of Democratic editors in the industrial centers are out for a protective tariff law. A still larger number are contending that the European war will, by checking imports, stimulate American industries, all unwittingly perhaps, but saying just what that when imports are checked American industries, mills, and factories are stimulated and prosperous. We pity such Democratic scribbles.—Marion (la.) Register.

Dr. James P. McNaughton, a missionary from Turkey, addressing the National Laymen's Missionary Convention at Detroit, said the presence of a vestige of the Armenian race, after what is said to have endured through centuries of oppression, is one of the miracles of history.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emey, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctors lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work. I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 45 years years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I wish I had more power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them.

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

A sapphire of good quality, which was cut into a gem weighing one and three-eighths carats, was discovered in the gravel along the shore of Lake Okoboji, Dickinson county, Iowa, in 1914. It is described as resembling a piece of blue bottle glass worn round and smooth by attrition and is stated to be the cornflower-blue variety and to have a good, velvety luster. This gem was probably transported to the Lake Okoboji region by ice during the glacial period along with a large variety of other minerals and rocks, and its original home can only be surmised.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

PHASANTS DO WELL

Porter, game warden for this county, reports that the pheasants which were turned out in Nicholas county during the year are doing nicely and watching kept on the various bunches. He indicates that there are ten twelve bunches of these birds, and is a heavy plumage for killing pheasants at any time and that in a year or two they will be a sufficient game for this county.

ELKS.

The present rise in the Ohio gave the dam workers a big scare, as it lacked only a few feet of flooding the big works again.

Captain John F. Klein, of Pittsburgh, recently fined $500 for overloading his excursion steamer St. James, has gone to Cairo to negotiate for the purchase of the Steel City, tied up at that point for debt.

Federal dredges are working widening and deepening the channel of the Big Sandy river below the lock and dam at Catlettsburg. The recent high water is said to have washed considerable sand into the channel.

There is a rumor in circulation that the Ohio will re-enter the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati trade in command of that veteran and popular navigator, Captain Charles W. Knox, of Marietta. The Ohio is now in the Cincinnati and Memphis trade and has been carrying big trips down stream. Captain Bill Stapleton has an entirely new crew since he took command of the Ohio.

STATE CONVENTION

Of the Holiness Church Closed Its Sessions Friday At Ashland.

The Kentucky convention of the Holiness church closed its annual meetings in Ashland Friday, Warren Posey, of that city, having been re-elected District Superintendent, the major officer.

The organization, which now only has churches in cities and towns east of Lexington, voted to extend the jurisdiction to the entire State. Other officers named were:

State secretary, Mrs. Warren Posey, and State treasurer, Mrs. Madge Savage, of Hitchens, Ky. The place of the next convention has not yet been determined.

The convention, attended by thirty ministers and delegates, divided the Eastern section of Kentucky into the following districts:

Maysville, Tolleboose, Vanceburg and McCall; Ashland Heights and Fairview; Rush and Bolt Fork; Hitchens and Willard; Wolf and Globe; Sny Valley, Bartonsville, Lockdale and Warfield.

The Holiness church has 4,000 members and fifty preachers in Eastern Kentucky, according to the district superintendent.

POWELL COUNTY TURKEY CROP A LARGE ONE.

Clay City, Ky., October 25.—Indications are that Powell county will have the largest turkey crop in years to put on the market for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Farmers all over the county report having a larger number of birds than usual, and they are said to be in good shape for fattening. Towards the East End, however, almost every farmer's wife has a nice bunch that she is watching carefully, in the hope of realizing a good sum when the season opens. So far no buyers have appeared in the county, but many inquiries have been made as to the prospects of a good crop, but no prices have been quoted.

TO SHOE SHOELSS CHILDREN.

(Portsmouth Star.)

Immediately after the election, on Tuesday, November 2, the "Shoe the Poor Kiddle" committee of the Supreme Order of Geeks will start to supply shoes and stockings to worthy poor school children. They will work in conjunction with the teachers of the public schools.

The board of directors of the C. & O. Railroad Company authorized the purchase of ten additional mallet engines, six consolidation GT's and one thousand seventy-ton coal cars. The purchase was made necessary by the heavy business being done by the company.

BRIDGE CON

And Contractor Simon Crowell Has Done the Best Job the Structure Ever Had in Painting.

When the contract to paint Limestone bridge was awarded by Council several months ago it was stated at the time that it couldn't be done for that money and done right, and when the young man to whom the contract was awarded took a look at the job, he saw that he could not do it and threw up the job.

Master Painter Simon Crowell's bid being the next lowest—$175—the figures being made in order that his painters might not lose any time, he not making a penny on the work—was given the job.

Scrapers were put to work and the iron work was thoroughly cleaned before the first coat of paint was applied, and Monday the second coat was finished, and to look at the bridge now one would think the entire structure was just from the factory, so complete is the job of painting, the painters taking as much care as if it had been a million dollar job with five hundred thousand dollars profit.

But then that's the way home men do their work anyhow.

THE NOVEMBER BALLOT.

The ballot for the November election will contain six columns. In the first column the Democratic ticket; then in order the Republican, Progressive, Socialist and Prohibition, while the two constitutional amendments, one to allow convict labor to be employed outside the prison walls, in building and repairing roads, bridges and other public works, and the other empowering the Legislature to classify property for taxation and to exempt from taxation certain classes of property, will come in the sixth column.

FIRST ISSUE OF HIGH SCHOOL PAPER.

The first issue of the school paper of the Maysville High School has made its appearance. The Advocate is the name it is traveling under and from the items contained in its columns, the name is very appropriate. Charles Goff Downing is editor and Henry Shea, Jr., is chief business manager of the organ. The paper will be issued twice a month during the school year and if the remaining issues resemble the initial one in any manner they will be sold rapidly.

NO CLUE TO PICKPOCKETS.

Chief of Police James Mackey and his corps of assistants are busy trying to find a clue to the persons or persons who picked the pockets of several of the people who attended the big Democratic barbecue at Cartmell's Woods Saturday, but as yet the officials have not found a clue to the slick individuals. From all appearances the work was that of experts and probably they never will be apprehended.

FORMER MAYSVILLE MAN TO BE BURIED HERE.

Mr. J. Wesley Oder, who died at a hospital in Huntington, W. Va., Monday, will be buried here Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock in the Maysville cemetery. The remains will arrive Wednesday morning and Rev. A. F. Stahl, of the Christian church, will hold services at the grave.

A quarter of a ton—that's all an engineer and his foreman on the Lexington division of the C. & O. weight. The "little fellows" are L. B. Johnson, 277 pounds, and Thomas Martin, 273 pounds, the latter the engineer. The railroad men live in Lexington. They are believed to be the heaviest pair working together on the C. & O. lines.

There seems to be considerable domestic infelicity down in Owen county. There are only thirteen divorce cases on the docket of the Circuit Court now in session.

OUR COLORED CITIZENS

(Paris Kentuckian.)

The campaign which was originated by Prof. F. M. Wood, superintendent of the Western Colored High School, for the purpose of erecting and equipping a domestic science building, has resulted so far in a total of $1,406 being subscribed to the fund. Of this amount, $806 was raised by the colored people themselves; $300 was donated by the Paris Board of Education and $300 was given by the trustees of the Slater Fund.

There are 205 children enrolled in the Paris colored school, and Prof. Wood plans to have erected and equipped on the school grounds on Seventh street, near Williams street, a building containing four rooms, twenty-four feet square each, for the purpose of instructing the pupils. It will probably be necessary for the school to raise an additional $1,000 in order to fully pay for the proposed improvement.

Mt. Hermon Chapter No. 8 met last Friday night for the purpose of electing officers. The following were elected:

"Win My Chum" Week will be observed in the Third Street M. E. church, beginning November 7, and continuing all the week. It was observed with good effect last year.

The City Sunday School Convention will meet Monday evening, November 1, at 7 p. m. All the Sunday school workers are cordially urged to be present. An interesting program will be given. The convention will be held in the Central Presbyterian church.

We notice several Salvation Army workers in our midst. While we have nothing to say of this movement in general, but we have in Maysville. We have a Mission here, and it is doing a good work. When you get through with it, hunt up the City Health Nurse and she can tell you where you can do some more good. The Mission and the Health League need all your spare change and help. Give them what you can and then they will not have any too much money to alleviate the suffering around our city.

SUFFRAGIST'S PETITIONS

To Be Sent Out This Week Over the Ninth Congressional District.

Blank petitions, containing resolutions asking the Kentucky State Legislature to offer for a vote of the people the question of whether or not women shall be allowed to exercise the right of the ballot have been prepared and will be ready for circulation in the Ninth District this week. Mrs. C. M. Freeman, district suffrage chairman, has made this announcement.

The move will be the first actual shot of the suffragists' campaign in the Bluegrass State, but within the next thirty days all district chairmen will take similar action.

Mrs. Freeman will forward other blank petitions to the county chairmen over the Ninth District with the request that they be circulated and returned as soon as possible. The district is a large one and considerable time will be required in circulating the petitions.

Mrs. Freeman said that reports from over the district indicate that the farmers will vote in favor of suffrage. This is taken as a great boost for the movement inasmuch as support from rural districts was not counted on heavily.

The resolutions are addressed to the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

NIGHT HIGH SCHOOL ORGANIZES BASKETBALL TEAM.

At a meeting after school Monday night, the Night School of the Maysville High School met in the office of Superintendent of Public Schools W. J. Caplinger and laid plans for the organization of a basketball team for the coming season. Several of the students spoke on the matter and there was a general discussion of the move. It was finally decided to hold first practice Wednesday night after school hour.

The prospect for one of the best basketball teams that this city ever had is good, as several of the students of the Night School have played the game for several years and are expert in every particular. Games with the local High School and with teams from Cincinnati will be arranged and some classy playing is assured the lovers of basketball during the coming season. Coach G. C. Mance, C. S. Dale, W. M. Jones and R. N. Hoeftlich, of the Maysville High School, will have charge of the squad.
